Adobe Tour 1967

Once again, the Monterey History and Art Association is sponsoring an Adobe Tour this Saturday. Sixteen beautiful historic buildings will be open to the public. Most of the adobes are maintained as private homes with magnificent gardens. And also included are several that have been restored and are being used as very handsome private clubs or offices, and one that is an artist's studio. These may all be seen by the general public on this one day during the year.

"Ports of Call," recalling the colorful and exciting days when Monterey Harbor was the destination for many of the clipper ships, is the theme. Each house on the tour will feature china and crystal in typical settings for meals for the clipper ships in the Pacific served at the many ports of call and Far Eastern areas. Hostesses in the dining rooms will be dressed in costumes of the country being depicted.

Hours for the tour are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. An al fresco luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in Memory Garden behind the Pacific Building. Morning coffee and afternoon tea, both at Casa Serrano, the Association's headquarters, are included in the admission charge.

Transportation will also be included in the tour ticket price, with station wagons carrying guests between the adobes and the picnic site. Many of the buildings are close together and are a pleasant stroll apart.

As a courtesy to the owners of these buildings, visitors are asked to wear flat heeled shoes. The floors are old and easily scarred by heel marks.

Planning Commission Ponders

Carmel Lago - Commercial Parking Eleven Illegal Motels

At the Monday evening meeting of the Carmel Planning Commission, several topics of importance were discussed by attending members. Those topics on the agenda were: Carmel Lago (see story on page 11), utilization of the north playground at Sunset for commercial parking, and illegal motels existing in the R-1 District.

The meeting came to order and the first business on the program was that of the Carmel Lago Subdivision east of Highway 1 on the Carmel River. In view of the approval by all other governmental bodies concerned, the Carmel Planning Commission merely studied an endorsement submitted by Carmel Rancho, Inc., representative Harry Bell. The Carmel commission questioned whether or not chemicals used to kill alga in the Carmel Lago lake would cause any adverse effects on the Carmel River. Bell's endorsement reassured the readers that the chemicals had been approved by the Wildlife Commission and that it would be in small enough doses not to harm wildlife in or around Carmel River.

Discussion was then heard on the structural appearance of the building . . . would they be in conformance with the overall image of Carmel Valley? It was suggested that a letter be drafted to recomend that the appearance of the buildings be in keeping with the image of Carmel Valley, and the Carmel Planning Commission be kept informed of design changes.

Also included in the recommendation was that everyone concerned with Carmel Lagr. should give serious consideration to the problems of pollution.

The second topic discussed was that of commercial parking on the north playground at Sunset for a trial period of one year. During this discussion it was pointed out that there would be $2000 available for materials to surface the parking lot. Also, after a polling of a number of Carmel residents there were over 90 people who would support the lot by renting space. It was recommended that the City Council submit to the Planning Commission a landscaping design along with a budget with which to work; then it would be possible to review the plans further.

Last on the agenda was what to do with the eleven illegal motels which are currently in existence in Carmel.

These motels, it was mentioned, have flourished for the past 25 years and with their growth violated city zoning laws. The commission considered the possibility of legalizing these motels by the issuance of Use Permits with tailor made restrictions for each motel.

The commission thought of rezoning these areas but decided it would not be advantageous to do so. They, therefore, recommended that the staff investigate the possibility of Use Permits based on existing buildings.

The intent is to legalize these structures and provide safe, sanitary, beautiful lodgings in keeping with the charm of Carmel. It was brought out that after a poll was taken of Carmel citizens no one considered these existing motels objectionable.

"Oh What a Lovely War" Enjoyed by Full House

The performance of Monterey Peninsula College actors in their Spring musical "Oh, What a Lovely War" was truly remarkable. The timing, blocking, technical work and acting were excellent. It was refreshing and completely entertaining. The production will run tonight, through Saturday evening, and next week, Wednesday through Saturday night. It is a musical well worth seeing.

Time may stop for no man, but it will advance one hour for every one here as Daylight Savings Time will go into effect at 1:00 a.m. this Sunday. So set your clocks ahead one hour.

Marijuana - LSD Survey At MPC

In a survey of some 1100 students in 11 a.m. classes at Monterey Peninsula College last week, 16 per cent of the students who responded indicated that they had used marijuana at least once and 6 percent said they had used LSD at least once.

The survey, John Blakemore, MPC dean of student personnel said, will contribute to the information needed by the college in the development of a continuing anti-drug program on campus. This program will include the importation of authorities as lecturers-in-residence to give the college staff and students all available information on the subject. The Peninsula's high schools will also be invited to participate in this plan.

Letter to Editor

Playground vs Parking Lot

by Gunnar Norberg

People have asked what they can do to alter the decision made last week by the City Council to convert the north playground at the Sunset Center into commercial off-street parking.

The initial decision in this matter was made between midnight and two in the morning at the City Council's regular April meeting, and last week's decision simply suplied the money, some of $2,000, to put hard surface — oil and gravel—on the Sunset north playground to ready it for paid off-street parking, and to provide additional exit and entrance driveways.

Although the decision allowed only a one-year trial use of the playground for the commercial off-street parking use, it was thought by me, and by many others, that hard-surfacing of the playground would stop any dual use of the playground for playground purposes during that trial period. At the end of that trial year, it could probably be said that no children or young people were then using it for playground purposes even on occasions when no

No Complete Solution to Narcotic Rehabilitation In Carmel Schools

by Margot Hyatt

The Carmel Unified School District Board adopted last night the rules it had been working on to serve as guidelines in student narcotic cases, but doubts were expressed that the ultimate solution had been reached.

Discussion centered on whether the student who had been excluded any length of time would react favorably to a positive program of rehabilitation.

Board member Dr. Hilton Bialek, research psychologist, suggested that they "start out with the positive program, then if they don't seem to shape up, throw them out."

Howard McFann decried the "leprosy colony approach."

Al Giovanetti, Monterey County probation chief from Salinas, reminded the board that a basic tenet of juvenile court law was "not to stigmatize for trial and error while growing up." A gathering of facts might take two weeks, findings 30 days, he said. There is an "assumption of innocence until proved guilty." Guilt must be established "beyond a reasonable doubt, not just admission which may be withdrawn like a yo-yo."

"A youngster must be a real menace to be held at juvenile hall," said Giovanetti. "I have no quarrel with a day or two suspension and having parents come in."

"If courts have no reason to detain, I don't see why we should," declared Bialek.

"I'm not asking the school to do the punishing", said Giovanetti. "I'd be disappointed if this document proposed double jeopardy."

"A youngster cuts class and we suspend for a few days. He violates a narcotic law and we suspend a little longer," said Harris Taylor, school superintendent.

"Suspension should not equate with the offense," explained Giovanetti, saying that it should merely be the length of time it takes to start investigation and give the school time to talk to the parents.

Suggestions for clarification were made by Eileen Pratt and Don Harrison. Arthur Strassburger asked whether a child, picked up and suspended a few days could make up class work if a petition was not filed by the probation office.

"As it stands now, he may not," answered Taylor. "He gets an 'F' for the day, for each day he is out. This rule may be subject to review. I'm not happy with a student being out of school for several days."

Board President Dr. Robert Newton closed this phase of the meeting by saying that "not a single member of the board feels we have found the ideal answer to this problem or problems which will arise. Experience may suggest modification."

Long awaited changes in the high school cafeteria service were recommended as a result of a questionnaire circulated among the students. A snack bar which serves grilled hamburgers, hot dogs, and french frys and malted milks will take the place of vending machines.

Of special interest to property tax payers was a report on the effect the Unruh Assembly Bill 272 would have on this school district. Because of the high assessed valuation per child, the Carmel Unified School District would lose the entire 37c override tax recently approved, as well as 18c permissive overrides for Community Services, Adult Education and excess cost of educating 7th and 8th grade students, totalling $385,000 per year. Since the 1c sales tax increase would be apportioned on an equalization basis, the District would receive only the identical basic aid it has received in the past, according to Mr. Walter Hinton, Distrct Business Manager.

A letter to state legislators suggesting modification so as not to hurt districts financially was approved, since this was not the intent of the bill.

Cast "Waltzes" Through Opening Night at Circle Theatre

EDITORS NOTE: Due to a most unfortunate automobile accident, Dr. C. Winter Van Horn will not continue in the role of General St. Pe'. Robert Heater, experienced actor and quick study, has assumed the lengthy role and will perform beginning this Friday evening. Rehearsals were called for during this week in preparation for Heater's performance. Van Horn experience several fractures in the accident which occured after the opening night performance.

For those who enjoy drama . . . for those who enjoy lighthearted comedy, the Circle Theatre's most recent production "The Waltz of the Toreadors" is an attraction which embraces both elements and makes Jean Anouilh's exciting, ironic and cruel play a must for theatregoers.

"The Waltz of the Toreadors" could be considered a study of human nature, and one doesn't have to look too far beneath the surface, if at all, to recognize the savageness some people experience in married life.

It's all about a General's life as a discontented woman chaser who confesses that he has never experienced true love, and that he thinks of himself, therefore, as "an old virgin." C. Winter Van Horn who undertook this explosive part as General St. Pe' interpreted his part quite successfully. The audience never ceased feeling as though he were honestly speaking from his heart during the scenes when he spilled his intermost thoughts to Dr. Bonfant, his wife's doctor, played by Irving C. Rogers. Overall, Van Horn did a magnificent job portraying his colorful character.

After a number of abusing comments to her husband during the opening minutes of the production (Mme. St. Pe' played by Gertrude Chappell) the audience imediately caught the significance of her character and never ceased to enjoy her performance, especially during the time which she spoke nothing, but merely reclined in bed as a true invalid would. Gertrude Chappell, well known in the Peninsula theatre circles for her many outstanding performances, utilized every moment of the little time she had to convey the true meaning of her character. She was most pursuasive during the scene in the last act when she and the General exchanged threats and reminded each other of their past, long before the General had found other women more attractive. Gertrude seized this opportunity as Mme St. Pe' to display her ability as a magnificent actress. She thoroughly thrilled the audience and never lost sight of her character.

Mille De Ste-Euverte, played by Barbara Kendall, drew affectionate "ahhhhs" from the audience as she quickly assumed her character in the opening moments of the play. Her smooth movements, high pitched voice, and delivery of her lines matched her character perfectly. She certainly was believable in her part, making sure that the audience understood that she had waited 17 years for the General's love, never submitting to him during all these long years. Her interpretation of the character made her one of the noteworthy performers of the evening.

Gaston, the General's secretary, seems to walk away with all the ladies' love, including the General's girl friend and his two daughters. It's quite amusing to see exactly how Gaston does it . . innocently and effectively. Edward Parks, new to the Peninsula, carried his part well, although at times too nervously. Possibly this was intended to be in keeping with his character since Gaston was reared by The Church and Father Ambrose, played by Jim Goffard. Jim's brief appearance on stage was met with smiles and bursts of laughter as he portrayed the giddy priest who couldn't wait to tell of his great news that Gaston was . . . well, wait until you see the play.

Irving C. Rodgers, Mme St. Pe's Dr. Bonfnat and recipient of her love letters, appeared to be typically French. Rogers' meaningful lines were delivered with flowing ease, and the audience never lost a word he uttered. His speech was excellent and interpretation commendable.

Much of the smoothness of the production is due to the director Norman C. McPhee who did a wonderful job with the timing and pacing of this play. The overall effect of the set design by Carol Mc-

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Let's Have a Little Luau"

If you can't fly to Hawaii when the weather gets too wet, do the next best thing: Have a "little luau" at home. Feature exotic Polynesian Pancakes—and forget about the rain.

May Day is Lei Day in Hawaii. For those who couldn't escape our recent California rains and sample Hawaii's liquid sunshine (which is what rain is called in that most romantic of states,) why not plan a Little Luau this coming weekend?

For Sunday supper have a miniature luau with party-special dishes adapted from Polynesian recipes. This week's menu, for example, features delectable Polynesian Pancakes . . . thin, ginger-spiced pancakes enclosing a delicate creamed lobster filling. Complete your Sunday luau supper with fresh tropical fruits and pretty punch bowl. Display your dishes on a low bamboo or grass mat-covered coffee table. You and your guests can wear comfortable muumuus and brightly flowered sport shirts—and sit on cushions on the floor to enjoy Island specialties. Don't forget to have background Hawaiian records playing softly and to give leis, those sprightly paper or real flower garlands symbolic of warm Hawaiian hospitality, for everyone to wear. The new jets in Hawaii are island-hopping so fast these days that the airplanes don't have time to serve the traditional glass of fresh pineapple juice. So in a more leisurely way, we suggest an exotic Pali Punch in an Ice Punch Bowl. With this serve Aloha Cheese Spread and Abalone Pupu. Now come the Polynesian Pancakes and Pake Peas. Tropical fruits finish off with true Island "take it easy" philosophy . . . their word for it is "hoomanawanui."

Pali Punch
(Makes 24 Punch Cups)

One cup pineapple juice; 1 cup guava juice; ½ cup lime juice; ½ cup brandy; sugar to taste; 1 qt. soda water; 1 qt. champagne.

Dissolve sugar in pineapple and guava juice. Mix lime juice with brandy and champagne. Mix together and pour into Ice Punch Bowl: Place a large cake of ice in the sink. Set a bowl the size of the capacity desired on top. Fill bowl with boiling water and let ice melt. Remove the bowl and soak up the water from hollow with sponge. Repeat boiling process until bowl is completely immersed in ice. The bowl can either be left in the ice so that the punch won't be diluted, or be removed and the punch poured directly into the ice cavity. Set the ice punch bowl in a pan to catch the water, but ice melts slowly so the pan need not be very deep. Accumulated water can be drained off to prevent overflow. Surround bowl with ferns interspersed wtih flowers to resemble a large lei. A plain fruit juice and 7-Up punch is equally delicious.

Aloha Cheese Spread
(Makes 2 cups)

One (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened; 3 oz. Bleu cheese, crumbled; 1/3 cup, each, crushed pineapple, drained, and chopped nuts; ½ tsp. ground ginger; sprigs of parsley, chopped pimiento; assorted snack crackers.

Blend cheeses; stir in pineapple, nuts and ginger; mix well. Chill. Garnish with parsley and pimiento. Serve with crackers.

Abalone Pupu

Cut desired amount of canned abalone into small bites. Spear each with picks and serve with hot mustard and soya sauce mixed to taste.

Polynesian Pancakes
(Makes 8 servings)

One half cup finely chopped onion; 2 tsps. curry powder; 4 tbsps. butter; 2 cans (10½ oz.) each condensed cream of mushroom soup; 2/3 cup milk; 2 cans (7 oz., each,) lobster or equivalent in flaked cooked fresh lobster meat; powdered mace to taste; 2 cups pancake mix.

In saucepan, cook onion with curry powder in butter until tender but not browned. Stir in soup until smooth; gradually blend in milk. Add lobster and heat, stirring now and then. This is best done in top of double boiler over hot water. Add mace to pancake mix and prepare 16 thin pancakes as directed on label. Spoon lobster mixture on each pancake and fold in half. Top with rest of lovely mixture as shown in picture. Creamed chicken, shrimp or crab may also be used. Keep hot in chafing dish, as tepid pancakes are most unappealing.

Pake Peas
(Serves 8)

2 lbs. fresh Chinese pea pods or 3 pkgs. frozen ones; 1 cup chopped almonds; 6 strips crisply broiled bacon, chopped.

Clean fresh pea pods by removing strings but leave whole. Saute almonds in small amount of bacon fat. Cook pods in salted boiling water until just tender and still crisp. Add almonds and bacon to drained peas. Simmer briefly and serve hot. Serve a variety of fresh tropical fruits (which double as an exotic centerpiece) and pots of fragrant Kona coffee . . . or iced tea.

Pacific Tel. Applies For Rate Increase

Pacific Telephone said today the "cardinal issue" of its application for a rate increase is the kind of communications system which the California Public Utilities Commission wants Pacific Telephone to furnish the people of California.

Pacific's attorney George Eckhardt in his opening statement, described Pacific's present local rates as "dollars below the rates charged elsewhere for comparable services." He said that those who believe that these rates represent the consumer interest are short-sighted.

The Company said its financial problems stem from heavy demands for service in California, which have required the hiring and training of an unprecedented number of people and the spending of billions of capital dollars in the face of a substantial rate reduction with a resulting sharp decline in earnings.

"This has put Pacific on the thin ragged edge. Our service is being held together by the sheer determination and dedication of our people, coupled with our investors' expectations that the earnings problem will be solved. To solve it, though, we need help, and we need it desperately."

"Our evidence will show that to keep pace with California's burgeoning economy Pacific's gross plant investment will have to be increased from the present 4½ billion dollars to a range of between 22 and 28 billion over the next twenty years."

Eckhardt told the Commission that the earnings Pacific is asking for will only put the company at the average of the large telephone companies in the United States and still leave California rates among the lowest in the country.

Travel Section

by Doreen Ralph

Each My Most Interesting Trip story has been written by an entrant in the Pine Cone's travel contest. Following publication, Carmel travel agents will select three winners. First prize will be a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. Two $25 bonds will be awarded, also.

Three years ago when my husband and I were living in Africa I decided that as part of my coming twenty-first birthday present I would like to spend the week of my birthday in the Kruger National Park, a huge wild game reserve. I decided on this simply because I didn't think many people had spent their twenty-first birthday in a game reserve and that it would be something exciting to remember.

It turned out to be one of the most interesting journeys I have been on.

It was decided that we should go five days before my birthday and off we set from Johannesburg, north east toward Mozambique where the huge wild game reserve is situated.

We "entered" the reserve at Orpen Gate, one of the middle "gates," although it is hardly a gate as there is no fencing all round the park, which is almost as big as England. I mention this because most people prefer to go to the south of the park rather than the middle or north, as up there the scenery and accomodation is not so good, being much more desolate or back to nature; this however was just what we wanted.

On our journey from the gate, we were given our instructions NOT to leave our car, NOT to feed the animals and to be inside our camp by 6 p.m. The camps all had wire fencing around them and gates, rather the reverse of going to the zoo. With all this in mind we set forth to our camp which was called Letaba right in the middle of the reserve.

We arrived at our camp which was nicely situated with little thatched huts (or rondavels as they are called in Africa) for the guests. There were about fifty scattered around amongst the trees. There were also large open barbeque pits and at the shop on the site fresh meat and food could be bought so as when the beautiful evenings arrived we could all have our supper under the stars. There was also a restaurant, mainly for breakfast but also serving a good, plain evening meal.

In the reserve we were told that the best time to see the animals was either early morning or mid to late afternoon, so the next morning we were up early and ready to leave the camp as soon as the gates opened at 6:30 p.m.

The most exciting thing about this trip through the park was of course the sudden turn of a bend, and there in front of you was a shy giraffe, zebra or a family of pea-hens. Also, of course, one could not guarantee seeing any animals, and they are so well camouflaged that you really have to be alert the whole time to spot them. One day we spent the whole morning, some seventy-five miles in fact, looking for some game, and saw absolutely nothing in all this time and distance. This was the day we went up to one of the northern camps, Shindwisi, where the game ranger told us they had not had rain for three years. Despite this, although the ground was dry, some of the trees were still green and fresh.

Here in the north of the park are the large herds of elephant and we had hoped to see them. What we did see were huge areas of land completely flattened with trees laying on the ground, and a general air of dissorder, a sure sign that the elephants had been there. We learned later that although to us the elephants seem destructive by pulling down the foliage and trees, actually in the dry season they are doing the small creatures, such as buck, a service as by pulling down the trees the smaller animals can then eat the fresh green foliage at the top whereas otherwise they might well starve.

After lunch at Shindwisi we set off again hoping to have a more profitable afternoon than the morning and we were soon rewarded. Coming round a curve we saw one of the big herds of elephant from Grandma to the new arrivals, all drinking from the water hole. One simply cannot describe the wonderful sight to see these huge beasts drinking with the dry brush all round.

Other than the one disappointing morning we were very lucky having seen most species of game that are in the park. The zebra and giraffe (so difficult to see with their camouflaging stripes and spots) impalas, springbuck, gemsbok, male and female Kudu, the males being quite rare to see, plus of course the baboons and monkeys. We also saw a good variety of birds, but these can be missed very easily although we did see some brightly coloured parrots flying through the trees.

One other rare animal we were lucky enough to see was a lone leopard stretched out on some rocks by a stream, and on another evening as the sun was getting low and we were on our way back to camp, we saw three hyenas walking single file with their sloping backs.

Although one is confined to the car throughout the reserve some good photography can be obtained, but you need patience and of course luck, as animals don't pose for a photographer.

One place where you could get out of the car was the Hippo Pool. We were taken from the road to the pool by an armed native guide, and when we asked him what the gun was for he merely said that there had been quite a few lions seen around the pool of late. With this thought in mind, we went to the edge of the pool where you could observe the massive hippos relaxing in the mud.

At last my birthday arrived and there seemed to be only one animal we had not seen. We had heard rumours as to where "they" had been seen and people would come back to camp in the evening and say they had seen one, a family or a pride of "them" but we ourselves had still not seen the king of the jungle, the lion.

That morning we set off from the camp, down towards the south where we were to stay the night at Skukusa before leaving the reserve the next day. As we got farther south, the vegetation was greener. Tthe two camps we passed en route were far more luxurious than the ones up north, but I thought they had lost a lot of the charm that was the Game Reserve.

Then suddenly we saw a whole family of lions basking in the sun. What a grand sight it was, and I must say worth waiting for as it really made my day. The male was in the sun and the two females behind him in the shade and we just stopped our car and watched them for ten minutes or so and took photos before they got bored with us and walked away.

We left the reserve the next day and once onto the main highway realised how fast the car were going (there is a twenty mile speed limit in the reserve) and how noisy everything seemed compared to the five days of quiet bush and lightly stepping animals.

So my birthday treat was an enjoyable trip and one I would like to repeat, despite the fact that we did hear of one angry elephant who sat on a Volkswagen car, causing the occupants to run for their lives as they watched their car crumple beneath the elephant. We also drive a Volkswagen.

Deborah Stetson announced her engagement to Frederick Carl Koegler Jr. at a family dinner party held at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harold J. Stetson of Mill Valley. Attending the dinner was her grandmother Mrs. Tinsley C. Fry of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and her aunt Mrs. Robert Light.

Miss Stetson attended Pacific Grove and Mill Valley elementary schools and following her graduation from Tamalpais High School attended Monterey Peninsula College. She is a graduate of the College of Marin and Humboldt State College and is currently a home economist with McCormick and Shilling Spice Co. in Salinas.

Her father, CWO4 Samuel Rice, is stationed at Shepard Air Force Base in Texas.

Mr. Koegler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Koegler of Hollywood. He received his BA degree at Humboldt State College and is now studying for his master's degree at Los Angeles State College. In the summer months, he works as a park ranger in Yosemite National Park.

An early fall wedding in Mill Valley is planned by the young couple.

Church News

A reception to be held in honor of newly ordained Reverend Kevin D. Bray will be the next event planned by the group. The date was set for Saturday, May 6, at Crespi Hall. The Mission Altar Society and the Junipero Serra Mothers' Club will be co-hostesses.

A dinner dance will be given on April 28 at the Beach Club by the Monterey County Bar Association and the Lawyers' Wives of Monterey County for members and their guests.

New officers that were elected to serve for the Lawyers' Wives of Monterey County last month were Mrs. Ralph W. (Joan) Thompson, president; Mrs. Bert Young, vice president; Mrs. Donald Hubbard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Moreno, recording secretary and Mrs. Ted Morris, treasurer.

One of the big things on the group's agenda will be planning for this year's California State Bar Convention to be held on the Monterey Peninsula the last week in September. Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Webster Street of Carmel will assist the president and other board members as co-chairmen for the event. Between 3,000 to 4,000 lawyers, judges and their wives will attend the convention.

HACIENDA CARMEL

Under the event title, "Castlegar Sweepstakes," golfing men and ladies of Hacienda Carmel will engage in a best ball, match play tournament at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club during the next three weeks. Committee members Frank Baker, Ted Hill and George Salter have paired up the players who will compete for the privilege of playing in the third final 18-hole match for the Hacienda Carmel best ball championship during the week starting May 1st.

A "Treasure Sale" held recently under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Uhlenberg found new homes for many "treasures" and offered residents a wide variety of succulent and cactus plantings and a selection from many handiwork and cake items, donated by residents. Articles not sold during the day were donated to local organizations to assist their charity operations.

FOREST HILL MANOR

A joint meeting of the Womens Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church of Pacific Grove was held last week at Forest Hill Manor. After a devotional period in the Chapel the group heard Mrs. Evelyn Miller, administrator, give an illustrated talk on "Adventages of Living in a Retirement Community." Later the guests were escorted on a tour of the Manor including the Health Unit. Residents of the Manor acted as guides on the tour and many opened their own apartments to the guests.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

On Wednesday, May 3rd, a number of Manor residents will have lunch with the residents of The Sequoias in Portola Valley near Palo Alto. A similiar group from The Sequoias are coming to visit the Carmel Valley Manor on the same day; a sort of 'shuttle' exchange, resulting in the normal number of people having lunch in both dining rooms, only with thirty-three visitors in place of the regular diners.

THE CARMEL FOUNDATION
8th and Lincoln

A trip to the Fair in Montreal, Canada, is scheduled for September 6th to Oct. 20th. This extraordinary Greyhound Charter Bus trip will include: Banff, Lake Louise, Quebec, the famed Gaspe Peninsula, including a visit to the Bird Sanctuary on Bonaventure Isle, Niagara Falls and then coming home by way of the Royal Gorge and the Colorado Rockies. Call 624-1588 for more details.

We wish to extend many happy returns of the day to Mrs. Nellie Hillyard of Pacific Grove on her 94th birthday. Last week she was honored by the Senior Citizens and her own neighbors at Lo Mar Home in Pacific Grove.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

Meetings And Sports In Spite Of Rain

This sports season will soon take its place among the classic events of completion, as did the snow-bound Crosby Classic some years back, with a 71 year record of rainfall for April. We may celebrate the two days that it didn't rain with a special ceremony.

But a few squashy sports events did take place.

Swim: Stevenson was just nosed out 50-44 by Live Oak this past weekend as the Varsity garnered 6 gold medals, but lacked the depth for enough thirds to take the win. Captain Tim Shea and fellow senior Jim Merritt each had double wins. Pete Stremmel added a first in diving, and the 40 yard medley relay team won. Both Pete Cowden and Jim Booth added seconds and shared in the relay victory. The JV's had a rougher go losing by 54-30, but Coach Jim Stam praised the performance of Charles Behlmer who took two firsts. Athletic Director Dick Zury organized the all-day program.

Golf: The defending CAA champs kept rolling along, blanking Junipero last week 27-0 with Jeff Hildebrand again being medalist. If Fred Manning keeps driving 280 or 290 on those long fairways, we may have to get Mr. Jones to revise all the local courses. Adding to this victory were three JV's, Bob Thompson, Bill Smith and Mike Donohoe. One thing the boys agreed on were the beautiful rainbows they spotted during the match . . .

Tennis: It isn't that we don't try to beat Stanford . . . maybe we shouldn't use so many sophomores when we play them . . . but it was Stanford Frosh with six wins and two for RLS. Mike Machette, showing the great class of a potential Junior Davis Cup star, took Jim Spiegal of Stanford 6-3, 6-4, and then teamed up with hard hitting Ron Marston to win their doubles match 6-2, 6-2. Coach Jerry Keuhn had praise for the other team members who "really played great games while losing to the older players" . . . Ed Scott, Steve Dart, Steve Gardner and Geoff Haynes.

Track: In a "fifteen minute phone call" meet organized to give the teams some exercise, RLS joined with Pacific Grove and Junipero in a non-scoring scrimmage last Friday. Mark Farber had a great win in the varsity 880, pulling up from behind. Tom Brown is starting to show some real style as a lightweight miler. Ken Dillon ran a great varsity mile, and Bill Kondrat is starting to come into his own in the varsity weights. Others with good performances were: Don Hart, Willis Cook, Mark Stevenson, Mike Eberley, Kirk Barr and Bob Sullivan.

Semantics: Some Junior boys in the speech program (along with a few Sophomores) had a chance to hear a leading semantisist as Lloyd Morain spoke last week to the Humanist Group of Monterey. This is one of many special seminars that RLS boys attend on a regular basis.

Election: Congratulations to Freshman Class President Rick Johnson, on his election to Vice President of District Eight of the California Association of Student Councils. He is the only representative from the Monterey Peninsula in a district that covers 22 public and private schools in the counties of San Benito, Santa Cruz and Monterey.

CAIS: And along that vein, of RLS students participating in regional and leadership groups, several of our boys joined with Mr. Brown in attending a Forum (regional) meeting of the CAIS student organization at Menlo Prep last Thursday. Larry Kuechler, Rick Johnson, Claude Wynn, Phil Fleming and Tom Gardner met in committee sessions and discussion groups. At the rate these boys are going in groups like this we may have to substitute leadership for the initials RLS.

Vespers: The distinguished local attorney Francis Heisler spoke recently to the students on "Constitutional Law and the Draft" which was of great interest to the students. Vespers programs, always open to the public will include in weeks to come, speeches on narcotics, scientific developments, and a special Cum Laude ceremony in late May.

Alumni: Headmaster Ricklefs had many enjoyable hours chatting with visiting Alumni on Alumni Day. Mrs. Betty Weaver, Secretary to the Association, again showed her delightful decorating skill in fixing up the tables and dining hall for the traditional "steak" dinner on Saturday night.

Guess who lost a buffalo in a telephone booth? A buffalo hunter? No, a numismatist. This collector of coins dropped a valuable buffalo nickel into one of our coin phones by mistake.

While this didn't happen here, I understand that the local telephone manager rushed one of our men to the scene. The coin box was opened and after sorting out the money, the buffalo nickel was found and returned to its most appreciative owner. I guess the moral of this story is to always keep valuable coins separated from other change.

The 36th annual Pacific Grove City Championship Golf Tournament will be held on the Sundays of May. Entrants in the matched-play tournament golf, as guests of the city, may obtain further information by calling Dick Fry at 375-3456.

Have you ever wondered what you could do about "pushy" sales calls? Well, when one of these "over-eager-beavers" calls you at an inconvenient time; won't take "no" for an answer; or gives you a sales pitch that sounds deceptive or unbelievable...firmly refuse the offer and hang up.

Of course, most people who sell by phone do so courteously and considerately, offering honest values you may well be interested in. And we give any business which is interested free information about good telephone selling. We ask that they make sales calls only to bona fide prospects and that they identify themselves clearly and approach you honestly.

So, if you're ever bothered by a rude sales call refuse the caller your time and attention and just hang up. You don't have to listen to the message. And the caller will certainly get yours.

Garcia Feature

This week's issue of the Pine Cone is featuring the works of local artist, Mr. Danny Garcia. He is one of the creative members of the Monterey Peninsula, Carmel art colony whose works are attracting the attention of the world to this area. His paintings are now owned by collectors in forty-four states and fifteen countries plus Hong Hong and Puerto Rico.

Mr. Garcia has participated in the awakening of our time to an expanding cultural appreciation which the world has not known since the Renaissance. This has been reflected in a rising market for the products of the skilled artists. Garcia's are giving a growing number of collectors an intriguing, satisfying method of participating in a renaissance. They also have the satisfaction of seeing the value of their paintings increase. These collectors or patrons take their place along side of the artist and critic to reflect our era. Among today's patrons are the church, professions and corporations as well as individuals.

The driving forces of today's art are expressed in variations from photographs and photo-like work to abstract, expressionist Pop and Op. Garcia's work is between the realistic or photographic and the abstract. He seems to try to glue them together. The impressions which are most frequently found on his canvas give the sense of the presence of a force usually veiled from humans. This has appealed to the clergy and churches which are numbered among his patrons. Garcia's "calling shapes and beckoning shadows" are the product of a free, inventive imagination breaking from the ties of accepted reality. You can see the influence of Garcia's boating activities in shimmering reflections on water and foggy mists. He shares his underwater skin diving experiences by portraying the suggestions of vertical light rays. His use of warm, happy combinations of reds and yellows expresses his personality. Efforts to penetrate the unknown are evidenced thru his use of black which is exciting but not alarming.

Paintings by Garcia are in the permanent collections of the Kaiser Center in Oakland, California, the Museum of Natural History and Art in Holyoke, Massachusetts and the Masur Museum of Art in Monroe, Louisiana. "The Fourteen Stations of the Cross" was commissioned by Father Varni for the Chapel of the Most Precious Blood in Concord, California. "The Crucifiction" was commissioned by Father O'Sullivan for St. Jude's Church in Marina, California. Notable collectors include Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden, the Frank Sinatras, Dean Martins, Steve Allens, George Shearings, Mrs. Lauritz Melchior, Mr. Trini Lopez and Mr. Josua Eppinger, Jr., Associate Managing Editor of the San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. Garcia's business affairs are now executed thru Mr. Anthony Stone who manages their only gallery in Carmel. Mr. Stone and his wife Hildegard live in Carmel. Monterey Peninsulans know Mr. Stone's Mid-Atlantic, English voice which was heard over a local radio station two hours daily for four years. He was in charge of the station's Classical Music Dept. Other interesting facets of Mr. Stone's career include association with the B.B.C. Publicity Dept. He worked with Mike Todd and Elizabeth Taylor on projects including their Around the World in Eighty Days.

Mr. Stone wears the jacket insignia of the Royal Air Force Volunteers of which he was a member during World War II. One of the business accomplishments of which Mr. Stone is particularly pleased is an exclusive contract with a well known fine art publisher in New York, The Donald Art Co. They have arranged for world wide distribution of Garcia Reproductions. The reproductions sold from the Garcia Gallery are the only ones personalized with his signature. They can be ordered directly from his Carmel gallery.

The Garcia family is a happy one. Danny's wife Carmen is proud of her artist husband and has decorated her home walls with her favorites of his paintings. They have a son, Gary, who is ten and a daughter, Linda, who is twelve years old.

Mr. David A. Smith, architect and project designer with the award winning firm of Burdee and Shaw, was the architect for Garcia's home.

It is built on a hillside along classic, timeless lines of oblongs and squares suggesting a Medeterranean and Spanish influence. There are nineteen outside doors. Thirteen split floor levels are built around a twelve foot square stair tower.

This home is a habitable machine with beauties of proportion which express functional principles of Walter Gropius, Frank Lloyd Wright and Le Corbusier.

On the next page are photographs of Mr. Garcia's paintings. Black and white does not do his work justice. A color brochure is available at your request, through his Carmel Gallery.

Helen Dooley To Paint Oils For U.O.P.

Helen B. Dooley, Carmel artist, has recently received a commission to paint a group of ten oils for the University of the Pacific in Stockton. Miss Dooley's paintings are to be used in the new administration buildings on the campus.

Miss Dooley, professor of art at University of the Pacific and now on leave, has been painting and exhibiting in the Monterey Bay area for over twenty years, and is a member of the Carmel Art Association and the Society of Western Artists. Her paintings have been hung in the National Academy Galleries in New York, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the de Young Museum and the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, as well as in many other galleries in the United States. She has won many awards for both oil and watercolor paintings.

She has established her own gallery in Carmel, where she exhibits her own work as well as the work of a few guest artists.

The prospectus and educational television was discussed at the dinner, and James Day, director, announced that KQED had received two new awards.

Mrs. Mudd is the area chairman for the KQED auction to be held June 5-10. Assisting her are: Mrs. Robert Tuttle, Carmel, Mrs. James Niebel, Jack's Peak, Mrs. Sandra Ashby, Carmel, Mrs. Dorothy Smythe, Pebble Beach. Dr. Mudd is a member of the sponsors committee.

Bus Tour to San Francisco Museums

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association is sponsoring another exciting bus tour to San Francisco Museums on Saturday, May 6th. A Paul Klee retrospective, featuring 175 works of various media will be at the San Francisco Museum of Art. This is the largest Klee exhibition ever shown in the United States. Leaving the museum, the tour group will continue to the Cosmopolitan Room of the Jack Tar Hotel for their famous buffet luncheon. The group will then move to the de Young Museum to see the Chinese collection of King Gustaf IV of Sweden. This precious collection should make an interesting addition to the Brundage collection which is also at the de Young. For those who have not yet had a chance to view this magnificent potpourri of oriental art, Paintings by Ralph DuCasse, who taught a workshop in this area sponsored by the association will also be on exhibition. Please make your reservations early as this will be a very popular tour. 624-2918.

The Complete Gardener

. . . a regular diet of information having to do with plants

Today you are about to be bombarded with a barrage of facts and figures, all pertaining to gardening. The name of the game is to see how many you can absorb and retain for future use. Also, how many did you already know and how many are contrary to your present thinking. Let's see.

Soils are usually lowest in available nitrogen during the early spring, when it's most needed. Gypsum must be watered deeply to be effective. Proper fertilization will control most turf weeds. The safest insecticide to use is malathion. A good soil should contain at least 90% calcium and less than 10% sodium. Gophers and moles can be discouraged by the use of castor bean meal in the soil, at the rate of at least 5 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. The third most important element to plant life is sulphur. Moisture control will eliminate fungus attacks.

Apples belong to the Rose family. Clematis does best in morning sun and afternoon shade. One blue planting tablet will feed a gallon-size plant from one to two years. Potash is rapidly leached in highly acid soils. The most important minor element, not naturally present in our soils, is zinc. The toxin in poison oak is urishiol, and is related to carbolic acid. The juice from the stem of a fresh-cut daffodil can cause irritation. Primroses have been known to produce a red rash on the skin of those allergic to them.

If your birdbath becomes green with the growth of algae, scrub it with a stiff brush and bordeaux mixture. The canna belongs to the Banana family. Gladiolus means "sword-leaf." The leaves of rhubarb are poisonous when eaten. Likewise those of the oleander, foxglove, larkspur, boxwood and holly. The delphinium is a member of the Parsley family. Spring is the best time to plant dichondra. The main feeding roots of a tree lie between 1 and 2 feet outside of the branch spread. A nematode is a microscopic worm which feeds on the roots of plants. The only way to control it is by soil fumigation.

A spreader-sticker added to insecticide sprays will increase their efficiency nearly twice. The abuse or misuse of pesticides is responsible for 90% of all failures to get the desired results. The fruit of the castor bean plant can be fatal if eaten. Also the seeds of the lupine and lily-of-the-valley berries. Likewish the berries of English ivy and holly. Oaks and chestnuts are related, belonging to the Beech family. And the yucca is in the Lily family. Heather is a native of South Africa. Steer manure is one of the most expensive plant foods on the market. Superphosphate outperforms bone meal in every way, and at half the cost.

Flat-growing weeds thrive in lawns which are mowed closer than two inches. The most effective fungus control is before it starts: a preventative spraying with panogen in the early spring. To determine the volume of material in a pile: multiply the area of the base by 1/3 of the height. Trees should be fed in early spring and in the fall. Snapdragons and veronicas are first cousins. Next time we'll discuss tuberous begonias.

Carmel Lago Plans

Preliminary plans to develop "Carmel Lago Subdivision" were explained to the Carmel Planning Commission at the April 19 meeting (Wednesday afternoon). Presentation of the tentative plans were shown by Harry Bell of Carmel Rancho Inc. A scaled model showing significant features of the proposed development was displayed to members of the Commission.

This new development near Highway I and the Carmel River envisions a lake one half the area of El Estrero. There are to be 120 units of buildings 22 feet in height. Each unit will have individual underground space for parking.

Following a showing of more plan details the matter was deferred for further consideration by the members, at a meeting scheduled for April 24th, 7:30 p.m.

At the study session of the Board of Adjustments, use permits for building sites requested by Don Paul Medalie and Eleanor L. Thielen were approved. A use permit requested by Helen Mills Craviotto to establish three building sites was not passed since the project did not meet fire protection requirements, and driveway limitations.

Landscaping and other features of the new proposals for landscaping and lighting Sunset Center were postponed for a future meeting of the Conservation Committee, April 24.

THE DRAMA OF WATER

The Ocean at Your Feet,

WHILE FLOOD LIGHTS PLAY ON THE OCEAN SURF under your living room windows — exciting, beautiful, and COLD water! — step across the courtyard, beyond the waterfall, slide open the glass doors, and swim in a 30 ft. heated pool. Then, if you're the "masters," slip into your own wing through a private door; shower in a huge, handsome white tiled bathroom-dressing room, enjoy the unusual view of the surf in the cove outside your bedroom, or delight in the little enclosed solarium, or watch TV, or adjust the music for the remote speaker system.

MEANWHLE, BACK TO THE GUESTS AND/OR THE CHILDREN—who have returned from the pool via a door to their own wing. Then, dinner in the dining room overlooking the surf, which dinner has been prepared in a wonderfully organized kitchen (so attractive it has been featured in national magazines), which also overlooks the sea.

WHILE THE FIkELIGHT GLOWS under its copper hood, enjoy your after-dinner coffee with the endless fascination of the sea as your incomparable "living" mural. Interesting house lighting compliments the floodlighted excitement of the waves outside (and you should see this view by moonlight with all the lights OFF!).

YES, THIS IS THE HOUSE for those who came to this area to take the waters—both to look at and to swim in. Located about six miles south of Carmel, it's most convenient to all the area's recreational attractions, too.

THE PRICE IS $147,500

Pt. Lobos for your Neighbor

What would you consider a west wall to be worth if it is floor to ceiling, wall to wall, a living mural of the sea? And what is a south wall worth if its glare-proof windows frame the unending excitement of the surf on incomparable Pt. Lobos? And what is the value of this 180 degree view when it is skillfully illumined by concealed floodlights, or enjoyed on moonlight nights when the phosphorescence turns the shoreline into fairyland. And would you think a beach practically in your front yard desirable?

If this kind of setting doesn't interest you, then don't bother to read on. But if Carmel to you MEANS the sea in all its moods as a routine part of your life, and if you like a setting of simple luxury from which to enjoy it, then also please take note of the following:

There are five bedrooms and four baths, but the house is as well suited to a couple with an interest in hobbies and guests as it is to a big family, so carefully was it planned. Three of the bedrooms are exceptionally large, one has a fireplace, one has a separate entrance, one is an ideal studio. The style is a pavilion concept of contemporary California architecture—and this means that all the courts and outdoor living areas are wind protected and sheltered. The living room is spacious, luxurious in decor, and the dining room also takes full advantage of the view. The kitchen—ah, the kitchen! We hope the buyer is a gourmet who doesn't hire the cooking done!

High Up In The HIGHLANDS

Look down on your unobstructable and awe-inspiring view of the magnificent Pacific Ocean, plus the glorious green view of the wooded hills and exciting Malpaso Canyon. The home is first quality, nearly new, absolutely immaculate. Custom designed by leading Carmel architect, who planned fascinating built-in features, tastefully incorporated into the living areas with exquisite taste. Interesting stone fireplace, sliding windows open to decks projected to enjoy the sun and view and avoid the wind. It's peaceful, it's quiet, and it's only .6 miles from Carmel.

THE PRICE IS $80,000

News From MPC

$480,000 Building in Use

The first structure called for in the Monterey Peninsula College's $6 million construction program is completed and is now being put to good use by the students and faculty.

Occupancy of the newly finished physical science and mathematics building represents completion of the first phase of the program which began two years ago when the bond issue was successfully passed.

The new building will house six laboratories, five classrooms, 14 faculty offices and a divisional center. It will accomodate a 3000 student enrollment with enlargement plans to house an additional 2000 students when needed.

The new building is located on the bay side of the campus, visable from Fremont Boulevard.

The life sciences building, second half of Phase 1-A, will probably be ready for occupancy within weeks. Two other buildings—a humanities and business data processing building — will be used for the first time during the summer session starting in June.

Doctor Bressire

Also new at MPC is the appointment of Dr. Jack D. Bessire to the position of dean of student personnel which was approved recently by the college board of trustees.

Dr. Bessire will replace John Blakemore, who will become MPC's dean of instruction, replacing Dr. James Rhodes, whose previously announced resignation becomes effective June 30.

Currently director of liberal arts and natural sciences at Contra Costa College, Dr. Bessire is 31, married and father of a son and daughter, four and seven years respectively.

"With deep regret" the MPC board of trustees accepted the resignation of Dr. Eugene C. Haderlie, former chairman of the natural sciences department.

Dr. Haderlie, who had been on a two-year leave of absence to serve as an associate professor of oceanography at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, will remain with the Navy School.

As well as being the first junior college professor to appear over national TV in ABC's "Meet the Professor" series, Dr. Haderlie also achieved recognition when appointed the 1962-63 liaison scientist in marine biology for the Office of Naval Research at the American Embassy in London. He was granted leave from MPC to accept this post.

Granted Tenure

Twelve instructor were granted tenure at last week's meeting of the Monterey Peinnsula College board of trustees. The group included Alex Gonzales, art instructor, John Waterhouse, English instructor who are both from Carmel and Mrs. Rosetta Smith of Carmel Valley who is a business instructor.

"Short Ribs"

Cartoonist Frank O'Neal of Carmel, whose nationally syndicated "Short Ribs" won him the National Cartoonists Society "best humor strip" award in 1964, spoke at the college yesterday. He was the second to be featured in MPC's "Cartoonists Look at Society" series.

Bola Sete Brazilian Trio

Bola Sete and his Brazilian Trio, a famed recording group, will present a mixture of American jazz, Brazilian bossa nova and classical Bach this Saturday, at Monterey Peninsula College.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the MPC Music Hall. Tickets, priced at $2, may be purchased at the college community services office from Monday, April 24, or may be obtained by mail.

Bola Sete appeared with Dizzy Gillespie's band at the 1962 Monterey Jazz Festival, charming a Saturday afternoon audience with his bossa nova and spritely Brazilian dancing.

Other members of the trio are Sebastian Neto on bass and Paulinho on drums. Many critics consider Neto the foremost bassist of jazz musicians today, and Paulinho was named "Best Drummer of the Year in Brazil" every year from 1951 to 1959, besides being awarded a Silver Record in 1958 and a Gold Record in 1960.

Seating in MPC's music hall is limited to slightly over 200.

High 12

April 24th., Mr. Peter Kutschera's eighty second birthday was celebrated at High 12. Mr. Kutschera presented his fellow members with a steak luncheon as he has been doing for years. The normal proceeds from the luncheon are then donated to the Walcott Education Foundation. The luncheon was topped off by a generous sized birthday cake.

MPC Dean of Students To Be Principal Speaker

Mr. John R. Blakemore, Dean of Students at Monterey Peninsula College, will speak tonight at 8:00 p.m. at the Monterey U.S.O.

The newly formed Chapter of "Parents Without Partners" will meet on that date for its second monthly meeting to help Mr. Blakemore and a panel of four students discuss problems of the youth of today as well as their views of the child in a "single-parent" home.

All persons interested in joining the organization are cordially invited to attend the meeting, meet other members and enjoy a social hour at the close of the discussion.

Real Estate

JUST LISTED! Original owner's home situated in a setting of natural trees, shrubs and rocks. Featuring seclusion with a woodsy outlook from the LARGE living room with cathedral ceiling and windows framing a background of ferns and stone retaining walls, two bedrooms, two baths and a compact kitchen, this property represents EXCELLENT VALUE when listed at a price of $30,000. Range, refrigerator and draperies included . . . other items of furniture may be purchased.

CARMEL POINT GEM: Comstock design and construction for this unique, small, nearly-new residence . . . English atmosphere suggested by its exterior and a "special" interior charm evidenced by its rustic driftwood walls and open ceilings in every room. Delightful peasant kitchen with contemporary equipment (including an open electric grill); living room with Dutch-door, covered entry, corner paned windows, bookcases and stereo units adjoining attractive hearth; master bedroom with wall of louvered closets and adjoining bath; guest room or study with bookshelves and TV cable plus powder room. Washer and dryer in central hall closet; water softening equipment in special storage area. The listing price of $49,950 represents a figure less than today's replacement costs. Exclusive Listing.

CONSERVATELY MODEST IN PRICE AND TYPE: Recently renovated with new range, refrigerator, draperies and carpeting and located near bus transportation, this neat home should appeal to a purchaser who wants comfort without extravagance in investment. Priced at $27,500 with an assumable bank loan that requires monthly payments of $137, a new owner may have immediate possession. Exclusive Listing.

TODAY'S BEST VALUE IN A FAMILY HOME: Cul-de-sac location provides safety from traffic for "small fry." Ample living area comprising three bedrooms, two baths, living room, kitchen with family room, laundry area and sliding glass doors to patio . . . all factors leading to happy family living. Make an offer on the listing price of $34,500!

TWO BUILDING SITES IN CHOICE LA RANCHERIA: Both approximately 1½ acres.

1. $19,500 for a desirable site that achieves seclusion from adjoining neighbors by providing a beautiful natural background of oaks.
2. $20,500 for a valuable site providing an inspiring view of the Carmel Valley.

West side Dolores Street just South of Ocean Ave.

HAVE YOU ALWAYS WANTED to own a little INN just three blocks to the beach? We have just listed an eight-unit inn with owners' apartment. The property has a great potential for increase in revenue for the right parties. Shown by appointment. Priced at $45,000.

We have had many calls for that one-and-only lot on the CARMEL BEACH, still available at $37,500.

LOCATED ON A CORNER LOT 1 block to the busline sits the sharpest two-bedroom home you have ever seen. Mellow warm paneling, great beamed ceilings, large living room, modern kitchen and a sunny location, makes this an exceptional buy at $31,950.

Toreador

Phee and the technical production were outstanding and added considerably to the show.

The two daughters, Sidonia and Estelle, Wendy Thaler and Ruth Fry, engaged in a dispute over Gaston's attentions, which was probably the best fight that has ever appeared on the amateur stage. These two lovely young ladies fell, scuffled, slugged, and yelled at each other in so life-like a manner that one would swear they were truly sisters Even though their parts were small, they were as well remembered as any other member of the cast.

Betty Root was above reproach in her performance as the flirtatious dressmaker, Mme. Dupont-Fredaine. Although her time on stage was short, requiring a cold start in the latter portions of the play, Betty came on strong in her delivery and upheld her character quite well.

As with all of the Circle's productions, "The Waltz of the Toreadors" was performed in the round, making it very difficult on the part of the actors as well as the set designers, properties mistresses, and director. The sets were quite well done and the changes of scenes from the study to the bedroom and back were carried out in time with music in full view of the audience. This afforded an entertaining method of changing the sets. The maids, who doubled as the properties mistresses and set changers, had their own performance as they marched in time to the music to change the appearance of the stage.

Overall, the acting, sound effects, timing, and pacing of "The Waltz of the Toreadors were magnificent. The entire production was entertaining enough to please anyone who intends to attend.

Remodeled Real Estate Offices Have Re-opened

The newly remodeled real estate offices of the Del Monte Properties Company have re-opened after a brief construction delay, according to Richard Dix, sales manager.

The offices, located in the Mall across from Del Monte Lodge, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays, Dix said.

WHERE BUT CARMEL . . . Would the town's 52-year-old newspaper receive long distance phone calls from San Francisco, Illinois and New Jersey to subscribe — to the Pine Cone, that is.

Letter to the Editor

parked cars were in the way, and therefore the commercial off-street parking use could be made permanent.

Since the adopted master plan of the City of Carmel recommends the indefinite continuance of the Sunset north playground solely for playground use, the very first action the City Council should have taken, when this commercial off-street parking proposal was made, should have been to refer the proposal to the city planning commission for public hearings.

If you feel that this action should have been taken, you can talk with individual city councilmen about this. Besides myself, the other councilmen are: Herbert Blanks, Eben Whittlesey, William Sefton, and Steven Grant, who is also mayor. It could very possibly be that the City Council at its meeting next Wednesday evening, might reconsider its actions earlier this month with regard to the Sunset north playground.

There is also a moment, early in the agenda for each month's regular City Council meeting, when the Mayor asks if anyone wants to be heard "on a matter not appearing on the agenda". Next Wednesday night, very soon after 8 o'clock, the Mayor will make that inquiry. If there are then people in the audience concerned about the hurried Sunset playground conversion into a commercial off-street parking facility, they can then be heard at this time. And that could very well be the last time when any stated objections could have any effect on the Sunset - playground - versus - commercial - off - street - parking issue.

EDITORS NOTE: It should be pointed out that the master plan of the City of Carmel is merely a guide to community betterment, not a law, and that the master plan should be changed to reflect the needs of the city which change from time to time. In this case, the master plan has been changed with respect to the Sunset north playground.

NOTICE TO PAY ASSESSMENTS LOCAL IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 12 (CARMEL VIEWS NO. 1)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that all owners of real property liable to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses of the acquisitions and improvements described in Resolution of Intention No. 702 adopted by the Sanitary Board of the Carmel Sanitary District on July 5, 1966, as subsequently amended, are hereby notified that on April 12, 1967, the assessment and diagram to pay the costs and expenses of said acquisitions and improvements was recorded in my office and in the office of the County Surveyor of Monterey County.

Said assessments are due and payable immediately at the office of the Secretary of the Carmel Sanitary District, Ricketts Building, Carmel, California, and must be paid within the period expiring May 12, 1967.

In the event of the failure to pay before the expiration of said period, serial bonds to represent the unpaid assessments and bearing interest at the rate of not to exceed six per cent (6%) per annum will be issued pursuant to the Improvement Bond Act of 1915, the last installment of which bonds shall mature not to exceed fourteen (14) years from the second day of July next succeeding ten months from their date.
